THE SCIENCE OF BASEBALL PLANNED AT FORT DISCOVERY!

Augusta, GA -- If you have ever wondered why a curve ball curves, what makes a sweet spot sweet, how bats and balls are made and how Newton's laws of motion apply to baseball . . . now's your chance to find out! The National Science Center's Fort Discovery will sponsor "The Science of Baseball" through the month of May with special baseball-related demonstrations, floor activities and special events. You can even test your skills against the pitching machine located in the Knox Gallery. All activities are included in the price of admission to Fort Discovery: $8.00/adults, $6.00/children, seniors and active military. Members are admitted FREE.

Visit Fort Discovery on Saturday, May 20, when members of the Augusta Greenjackets join the fun! Special presentations in the Knox Gallery are scheduled for 10:30 a.m., 11:30 a.m., 12:30 p.m. & 1:30 p.m. After each presentation, Greenjackets players will be available for autograph and photo sessions. Following those presentations in the Knox Gallery, Fort Discovery staff will present "The Physics of Baseball" at 2:30 p.m. and 4 p.m. Other activities
